RAISES AFFECT CONCESSIONS.

"Hat to say that every concession nade at the conference was immediately off-set by raising the rates on some other merchandise, so that the companies are now in reality receiving more revenue than ever before. For instance, the rate on window glass was reduced considerably, but it was limited to certain sizes, while it was imitted to certain sizes, while it was increased on others. The result is that a car of glass shipped in under the "reduced" rate cost over $55 more than under the old tariff. That conference was a hollow mockery."

What is to be Done?

The result is that a car of glass shipped in under the 'ireduced' rate cost over $55 more than under the old tariff. That on ference was a hollow mockery."

GEORGE W. Same

"Well, what is to be done?" asked the reporter.

"Yes, that's the question, but I cannot answer it. I know that I gave my time and best effort for mouths to secure some relief, and when we had the matter in such shape that we could have obtained it, self-interest asserted itself, the conference bait was taken, and all our plans, the result of so much labor, went to smash. The result is only what I anticipated, but I do not feel like working any longer in the cause. Let others take it up."

THE TARIFF IS AGAINST US.

THE TARIFF IS AGAINST US.

T. G. Webber, the chairman of the conference committee, was next seen. He took a more cheerful view of the situation than Mr. Simon, saying: "The new tariff is somewhat against us, and I favor giving the tariff business immediate attention. Then, if it is found that the Union Pacific and other roads are discriminating against Salt Lake unjustly or not keeping the agreements made at the conference, action should be taken at once to secure our rights."

"In what way!"

ference, was seen last evening. He said: "I have gone over the freight schedule to Helena and Shoshone, as published in the HERALD, and it shows plainly that Sait Lake is discriminated against in favor of these points. I am inclined to think that this status of affairs is due to the heavy competition at Minneapolis, and the attitude of the Northern Pacific rather than the Union Pacific. We should certainly ascertain the facts without delay, and take whatever action is necessary to secure justice."

The Trustees Will Insist on a Bond Being Given.

S. W. Eccles, the Union Pacific diplomat, stated that he had not yet received the new schedule, and was not prepared to say much about the matter. There had certainly been no advance in rates from the river to Salt Lake, and the discrimination in favor of Helena would be found to be too insignificant to cut any figure. It was due, no doubt, to the sharp competition at Minneapolis, and the water haul to Duluth.
